"Water, already a critical resource, is becoming increasingly scarce due to the accelerating impacts of climate change. This makes water one of the greatest global challenges of our time. Research and development in clean water technologies are essential for shaping sustainable solutions that address these global water challenges.

At EHTP, we are not only advancing cutting-edge research in areas like water resources management, sustainable and adaptive water infrastructure, Smart Agriculture, and renewable-powered desalination, but also cultivating the next generation of leaders in clean technology to address present and future challenges worldwide.

We are convinced that the key to our success will be the collaboration between the water, hydrogen, and CleanTech communities. Hydrogen, as a clean and versatile energy carrier, plays a crucial role in our transition to a low-carbon future. By integrating hydrogen technologies, we can significantly reduce greenhouse gas emissions and enhance energy security.

By working together across sectors, with strong ties between academia, industry, and government, we can leverage the synergies between water, renewables energies, and hydrogen to create transformative, scalable solutions. This interdisciplinary approach ensures that innovation is impactful and accelerates our shared goal of a sustainable and resilient future for all."

Driving the Global Clean Hydrogen Transformation Together

As the global clean energy transformation accelerates, hydrogen has emerged as a cornerstone of this transformation.

At Guofuhee, we have dedicated our efforts to advancing clean hydrogen technology, contributing to China's hydrogen rise and growth, and now expanding this vision globally. Our mission aligns with the CleanTech Business Club (CBC) philosophy of collaboration under the banner of #TogetherWeAreStronger, working to create a thriving global clean hydrogen ecosystem.

The Path to Global Collaboration

To achieve a global clean hydrogen transformation, we shall:

- Promote Joint Ventures and Partnerships: Establish local manufacturing hubs through strategic joint ventures, like Go For Hydrogen Africa (GFHA) in Morocco, where Guofuhee collaborates with CBC, European, and African stakeholders to foster a robust clean hydrogen value chain.
- Develop Skilled Workforces: Empower engineers and technicians worldwide by establishing Joint Centers of Excellence, such as our collaboration with École Hassania des Travaux Publics (EHTP) and GFHA to create a Clean Hydrogen Center of Excellence in Casablanca, ensuring that young generation is equipped with the expertise to drive clean hydrogen innovations.
- Foster Cross-Industry Collaboration: Unite stakeholders across industries to create comprehensive solutions, integrating hydrogen production, storage, and mobility technologies for a holistic approach to sustainability.

Building a Sustainable Future Together

Guofuhee's unique position in the hydrogen industry enables us to contribute across the entire value chain—from advanced electrolyser production to hydrogen storage, liquefaction, refueling stations and mobility solutions. However, this journey is not about competition; it is about partnership. By leveraging our collective strengths, we can:

- Lower the Cost of Hydrogen Solutions: Make clean hydrogen technologies more accessible through innovation and economies of scale.
- Accelerate Technological Advancement: Share research findings, patents, and best practices to fast-track progress.
- Create Regional Hubs of Excellence: Build ecosystems that foster research, development, and localised production capabilities, ensuring economic growth and sustainability.

A Shared Vision for the Future

We are only at the beginning of the clean hydrogen transformation. The path ahead requires unwavering cooperation, mutual support, and a shared commitment to a cleaner planet. Let us see each other not as competitors but as partners on this transformative journey.

At Guofuhee, we believe that our collaborative efforts will pave the way for a brighter future. Together, we can build an interconnected global network that benefits our industries, our communities, and future generations.

A Call to Action

In this defining moment for clean energy, I extend an invitation to all stakeholders to join us in our mission.

Let us break down barriers, share knowledge, and work hand-in-hand across borders to create a sustainable and prosperous world. #TogetherWeAreStronger !

Clean Hydrogen Epicenter for Morocco & Africa

Go For Hydrogen Africa (GFHA), the first joint venture under the CBC #TogetherWeAreStronger Consortium & Ecosystems in Morocco, serves as a strategic Clean Hydrogen Epicenter for Morocco and the African continent.

Formed through a joint venture with Chinese hydrogen pioneer GuoFuHee, European and local Moroccan stakeholders, and partnerships with global leaders from the CleanTech, finance, and investment sectors, GFHA is built on the #TogetherWeAreStronger spirit. Its distinctive collaboration model prioritizes partnership over competition, driving collective progress and accelerating innovation in the clean hydrogen industry.

With its headquarters, warehouse, service, and O&M center in Mohammedia, GFHA's mission is to develop the entire clean hydrogen value chain—from hydrogen production and storage to mobility solutions and beyond—through close cooperation with its global network of partners.

Leveraging over 20 years of CBC's global trusted network and expertise in CleanTech, finance, investment, and industry innovation, GFHA is well-positioned to attract key international industry players, financial institutions, and investors.

The venture is dedicated to fostering a robust ecosystem through joint R&D, human capacity building, and technological partnerships. Its long-term vision includes establishing a manufacturing hub producing "Made in Morocco" clean hydrogen equipment, such as electrolyzers, hydrogen storage, liquefaction and refueling systems, and through strategic partnerships related CleanTech and Clean Water equipment and solutions.

GFHA's ultimate goal is to position Morocco as a global leader in clean hydrogen and sustainable energy innovation, driving economic growth and fostering prosperity across Africa. This vision aligns with Morocco's national energy strategy and the broader global transformation to a low-carbon economy.

Building Together The Clean Hydrogen Ecosystem

The First GFHA's Projects 2025

1. The Joint Center of Excellence in Clean Hydrogen – at École Hassania des Travaux Publics (EHTP) Campus in Casablanca, Morocco

This partnership unites the expertise of a Chinese hydrogen pioneer GuoFuHee, EHTP and GFHA to build local research capacity and train highly qualified engineers in the strategic field of clean hydrogen. The center is dedicated to advancing clean hydrogen technologies through specialized training, human capacity development, and state-of-the-art joint research and development (R&D).

By collaborating with global industry leaders, the center aims to drive clean hydrogen adoption in Morocco and across Africa. Its core mission includes fostering a robust talent pipeline, advancing technological breakthroughs, and supporting Africa's clean energy transition through scalable, clean hydrogen-based solutions that address pressing energy and environmental challenges.

2. "CH2R Agadir I: The World's First CleanTech Hydrogen Residences in the Hospitality Industry" at Danialand Waterpark & Resort, Agadir, Morocco

"CH2R Agadir I" is a groundbreaking, first-of-its-kind initiative redefining eco-tourism by integrating advanced clean technologies, including solar energy, hydrogen system (HyESS), and battery storage. This fully sustainable and energy-efficient project sets a new benchmark for innovation in green hospitality.

Aligned with Morocco's national green tourism vision, "CH2R Agadir I" demonstrates that clean hydrogen systems are safe, reliable, and seamlessly complement solar and battery solutions. By targeting the rapidly growing eco-tourism market—projected to reach $299 billion globally by 2026 with a CAGR of 10-15% (according to Research & Markets), "CH2R Agadir I" sets a new benchmark for eco-friendly accommodations.

Serving as a scalable model, "CH2R Agadir I" showcases Morocco's leadership in sustainable tourism, CleanTech, and clean hydrogen innovation, inspiring replication across Africa and worldwide.

CH2R Agadir I

Driving Africa's Clean Hydrogen Transformation Together

GFHA Partners #TogetherWeAreStronger

"Go For Hydrogen Africa (GFHA), marks a pivotal moment for the clean hydrogen transformation in Morocco and across the African continent. We anticipate that Morocco alone will require 50 GW of electrolyser capacity to meet the country's clean hydrogen ambitions, with Africa requiring over 100 GW.

Morocco has a tremendous opportunity to become "the Continental Hub of Clean Hydrogen," not only for production and export but also as a manufacturing center for clean hydrogen equipment, including electrolysers, hydrogen storage systems, refueling stations, and other renewable energy technologies such as solar panels, wind turbines, and battery storage systems. This can position Morocco as one of the leaders in the global clean and renewable hydrogen economy.

Clean hydrogen holds immense potential to drive economic growth and foster prosperity in Morocco and across the African continent. We firmly believe that the clean hydrogen transformation is not about competition but about collaboration.
